Freezing water pipes present yearly hazard

With freezing temperatures possible, residents are being encouraged to take action to avoid frozen water pipes.

To help avoid these problems, the water company offers the following tips: Before cold weather sets in, acquaint yourself with areas of your home where water pipes are most vulnerable to freeze-

ing, such as crawl spaces, outside walls, outside faucets, unheated rooms, basements, garages or attics; eliminate sources of cold near water lines by repairing broken windows, insulating walls, eliminating drafts and closing crawl the location of your main shut-off valve so that you can act immediately if a pipe bursts; wrap exposed pipes with insulation, electrical heat tape, newspaper or burlap; make sure the lid on your outdoor water meter is tightly closed; water in your refrigerator. When the temperature drops below zero degrees, open a faucet and run a small trickle of water overnight; open cabinet doors to expose pipes to warmer room temperatures; place a light bulb near exposed

Roxana school bond issue may go to vote

ROXANA — More than 1,100 residents of the Roxana School District have signed up to force a public vote on a $1.2 million bond issue. Volunteers filed 1,155 signatures with the school district a week before the Dec. 27 deadline.

"People were upset because of the way this dimensioned. It was hard to circulate the petitions because a lot of citizens are retired," volunteer Harry Mason of South Roxana said. Mason helped collect the 1,155 signatures.

about 400 more than needed, to meet legal requirements for the April ballot. The School Board voted Nov. 21 to sell $1.2 million in Working Cash Fund bonds, which could have been paid in 30 days unless petitioners requested the vote.

Some residents were particularly angered because the board approved the new sale less than a month after voters killed a similar back-door referendum by a 2-1 margin on the November ballot, Mason said.

The $1.2 million bond issue would cost taxpayers about $110 a year on a $60,000 home per $100 assessed valuation.

"We've never been against the sale, but they should not try another back-door referendum. It may be legal, but it's not right," Mason said.

Roxana Superintendent James Herndon said the back-door referendum was the only way the board could resubmit the bond issue. The district faces up to $1.5 million in debt by the end of the school year.

The fund could be used to reduce the impact of revenue loss from reduced assessments at Shell Wood River Refining Co. and Clark Refining & Marketing Inc., he said.

"Obviously, there are a lot of voters desirous to have the issue placed on the ballot," Herndon said after accepting the petitions. He expected the board to certify the signatures in January.

TO OUR QUAD CITY POPEYE'S CHICKEN CUSTOMERS:

We would like to take this opportunity to thank our customers who have been so patient with us while we were undergoing training and learning to be efficient workers at the Quad City Popeye's store. You have been responsible for us being able to not only keep the store open, but have helped us keep our jobs. The Corporate Popeye's expects the highest possible standards from their employees in their attitude as well as performance. You, the Quad City Popeye's customers have been most cooperative with all of our staff.

Management has decided to give the first 300 customers on Thursday, January 2, 1997, and Friday, January 3, 1997, a container of car wax valued at $2.49. Merry Christmas & Happy New Year from the employees and management of the Quad City Popeye's.

Warriors can't pin down wrestling championship

Dunnivant, Venne win championships

By Brian L. Jones
Correspondent

Granite City fans probably never expected Adam Dunnivant's arm to be raised in victory last Saturday during a championship match at the GCHS Holiday Wrestling Tournament.

Not that the GCHS junior is unworthy of voter confidence. Dunnivant, after all, had a respectable 21-17 record last year, a very sophomore at 103 pounds, scoring 104 points on a senior-dominated Warriors team. But when Dunnivant reported overnight this year to pre-season camp, he was one of three raised by the GCHS coaches about his desire to become a

Lancers lose Jackson, championship game

By Garen Vartanian
Staff writer

Any aspirations Belleville East had of upsetting Carlyle for the Masscoatl Invitational championship Saturday night withered away in the first round.

That's where Jessie Jackson, averaging 27 points per game, toppled to the floor with a twisted knee and never returned.

The 12th-ranked No. 1 state champion Lady Indians (14-0) took advantage of Jackson's absence and rolled over Belleville East (10-6) 67-36.

"That changed the whole game immediately," Lancers coach James said. "The game plan went completely out the window. Jessie Jackson is one of their lineup and see how they play. One, it's devastating for the kids mentally. She's the heart and soul of the team."

Lady Indians coach Angie Gherardini said the injury also forced her team to adjust.

"That's something I hate seeing, especially with the type of player Jessie is," said Gherardini, whose team whipped Althoff 62-41 in the semifinals.

James said Jackson, who was named first-team all-tournament, had her knee stabilized Monday.

Whatever lingered, response remained was quickly doused after a 10-0 Carlyle run to end the first half.

Belleville's 3-pointer from second-team all-tournament player Natalie Bennett with 3:12 left in the second period, Belleville East, a 45-34 semifinal winner over Mater Dei, closed to 31-19.

Baskets from Jessica Robert and Jessie Jackson pushed the margin to 16. Smith, a first-timer all tournament selection, then hit three consecutive field goals for an unassumable 41-19 lead.

"We kind of sat there and started thinking about things," James said. "We never really recovered (from) the first half. We just sat there and sat there. There was a five or six-minute period where I don't know where they were. I wasn't sure where I was at."

Carlyle's defense was stifling, holding East to just 38 points and forcing 27 turnovers.

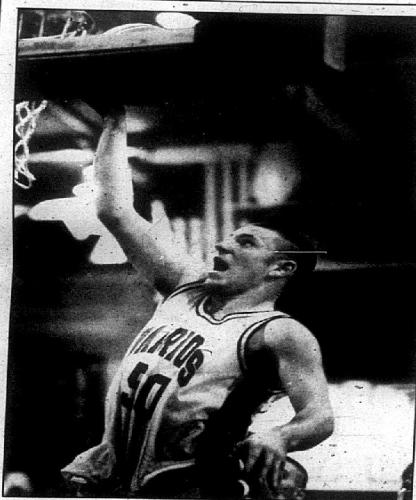

"That's going to be the key to our whole season, the way we play defense," Jackson stressed that as much as possible. "I know we're capable of putting points on the board, but our defense will hopefully win us a lot of games."

Smith was a force, scoring 21 points and basically doing whatever she wanted inside.

"That's the type of player she is," Gherardini said. "What makes her so good is the fact that she's making everyone else better. And everybody else knows they are capable of contributing to our scoring."

Dumstorf added 12 points and Robert chipped in 10.

Bennett paced East with 12 points.

Dustin Brewer and the Granite City Warriors lost 51-90 to Peoria Central Thursday in the Collinsville-Schnucks Holiday Classic. They also lost to Madison 65-64 Friday.

Quincy shuts down East offense in classic title game

By Brian Bretsch
Staff writer

Belleville East has scored points this season at a dizzying pace.

Through East's first three games at the 13th Annual Collinsville-Schnucks Holiday Classic, the Lancers scored a total of 278 points — an average of 92 per game.

Before Saturday's game against Quincy for the tournament championship, members of the Blue Devils squad vowed the Lancers would not score 300-plus points against them.

Their players tried to their word in holding the No. 1-ranked Lancers to just 69 points and capturing the Classic championship with a 75-68 overtime victory.

"The players, before we came out, said, 'They will not score 300 against us. There is no way,'" Quincy coach Loren Wallace said. "That was their sign of saying we will play a half court game. We're not going to let them just go down and make one or two passes and just shoot the ball. They are the best at that that I have seen in a long time."

The championship was a welcome relief to Wallace. The Blue Devils have played in the title game in each of the last three years but finished second in 1994 to Peoria and 1995 to Collinsville.

"Winning is great because these kids deserve some recognition," Wallace said. "You can get tired of (finishing second). That can really get on your shoulders and people start talking about it. I'm glad we were able to slip in there with this one because there really wasn't any pressure on us to do well."

East (9-2) probably played one of its worst games in two years — or at least its worst half game.

The Lancers looked sharp in the first 16 minutes, racing out to a 42-30 halftime lead thanks in large part to a 20-6 run in the final 4 minutes, 43 seconds of the second quarter.

But as hot as the Lancers were in the first half, they were just as cold in the third quarter. Junior guard Rivas was benched with 6:46 remaining in the quarter and did not return until 4:34 was left in the game.

Hedberg's benching, coupled with the cold shooting of everybody on the floor, resulted in just six points for the Lancers in the third quarter.

By the time Hedberg's benching, Quincy had erased the 12-point deficit and had a two-point lead, 59-58.

"We need to continue to work as a team," East coach Doug McCrary said. "We just failed to do that. The team like Quincy being disciplined and doing the right things and making us work got the bad side out of us a little bit."

The Blue Devils' half-court defense was effective against the Lancers in the second half.

Down the stretch, the lead changed hands four times. Lancer Scott Baird gave the Blue Devils a 62-61 lead with 42.7 seconds remaining.

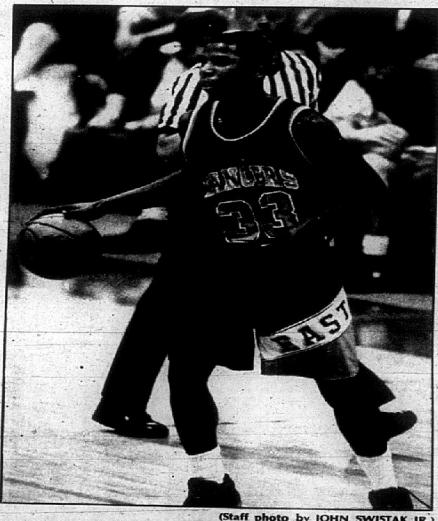

East brought the ball up court and looked to regain the lead, but Quincy's Scott Baird stood his ground near the Lancers' basket and drew a charging foul from Enrick Greene. The foul was Greene's fifth.

Quincy missed an opportunity to pad its lead after Greene fouled out. Rivas threw up a wild shot with 22 seconds remaining, and East snared the rebound and righted up to half court and called a timeout with 16.5 seconds left.

Mike Todd was fouled with 7.3 seconds left and could have given the Lancers the win by converting both free throws. His first attempt hit the front of the rim and fell away, but he calmly sank his second attempt.

Without Greene in the lineup, Rivas owned the boards in overtime as the Blue Devils pulled away.

"We just didn't have a very good game," McCrary said. "We don't deserve to win this game with the half we had. The second half was the worst we have done in a while. We'll rebound."

 The Quincy Blue Devils held Enrick Greene and the Belleville East Lancers to just 68 points in the championship game of the Collinsville-Schnucks Holiday Classic. The Lancers had scored a total of 273 points — an average of 91 per game — through the first three tourney games.

7-0 Trojans fall flat in tourney

By Brian Bretsch
Staff writer

Madison coach Al Collins had high hopes for the Trojans in the 13th Annual Collinsville-Schnucks Holiday Classic. The Trojans entered the Classic with a 7-0 record and could have easily been one of the three teams that earned one of the top three seeds.

Instead, the Trojans looked lethargic in three of the four games they played and lost to Chatham Glenwood 72-60 in the consolation championship game Saturday afternoon. The Trojans (9-1) advanced to the consolation championship with a 76-71 overtime victory over Jacksonville.

"We didn't play real well," Collins said. "It was like we were in la-la land. We could never get it going. We played a good game (earlier). The best game we played in the tournament was in the morning. We came back at night and played our worse game. We played the same way in the (opening) game and the second game (of the tourney). We played twoousy games and played one good game the whole tournament."

Neither team seemed as if it wanted to take control of the game. The game see-sawed back and forth throughout regulation play.

state true contender.

Dunnivant, in fact, lost his starting position in the first half of the season. He struggled to make weight at 119 pounds and did not always abide by coach Mike Garland's training rules. His replacement was a well-experienced freshman Dan Robinson, who has since returned to the freshman and junior varsity programs.

Given that background, it's understandable why Warriors fans erupted with applause Saturday after Dunnivant pinned Hazelwood Central's Ken Brummett in the first period to win his first holiday tournament championship. Dunnivant needed only 53 seconds to finish off the 112-pound title match.

He joined sophomore Kevin Venne (189) as the Warriors' only two champions among 10 total places. Jonathan Jonas (181) was the only other champion in the first period to win at 145 pounds after a wild 105-lead to McClellan North senior Demarquis Thomas. That match was tied at 3-3 with 1:55 left in the third period.

"There's no question, he's a very tough wrestler," Garland said. "He's much stronger and bigger than most kids at 112, but he has to use him at 119 most of the time in dual matches. He just needs to keep the weight under control, which he has been doing lately. That is the best I've ever seen him wrestle."

Dunnivant went 1-1 during his period before both wrestlers began shooting at will for take-downs.

"I was very proud of Janek," Garland said. "He got beat by a two-time (tourney) champion. When that kid gets beaten by a freshman, it's hard for me to say believe me — you can't be disappointed. The effort was there."

Dunnivant's first-place plaque, in particular, is what helped Garland absorb his team's second-place finish behind champion Bethalto Civic Memorial in overall scoring.

"Dunnivant is not a shock to me at all," Garland said. "He didn't even place last week at the Springfield Tournament, but I knew he was ever going to him in the right frame of mind, he would be this effective."

Lively Taste

Bake chicken breast with a lively crust. Combine 1/2 cup wheat germ, 1/2 teaspoon each chili powder, ground cumin and minced onion, 1/4 teaspoon garlic powder and 1/8 teaspoon cayenne pepper in shallow dish. In separate bowl, beat 1 egg, white and 1 tablespoon water until frothy. Dip 2 chicken skinless chicken breast halves in egg white mixture; then in dry mixture; repeat to coat thoroughly. On baking sheet coated with nonstick cooking spray, bake in preheated 400° oven 20 to 22 minutes until juices run clear. Serve with salsa.

Health & Fitness

Medicine Chest

Quitting smoking is a resolution often made with a new year. Talk to a doctor or pharmacist about aids to help quit. New choices can aid in making the resolution stick.

Fresh Picks

If a bag of fresh cranberries has eluded the cook until this morning, take steps to preserve the fruit for a treat of Christmas in July. Berries can be rinsed and blotted before freezing in an airtight bag, or just overwrap them in an airtight plastic bag and freeze to use later this year, rinsing them while frozen just before using. Be sure to date the package.

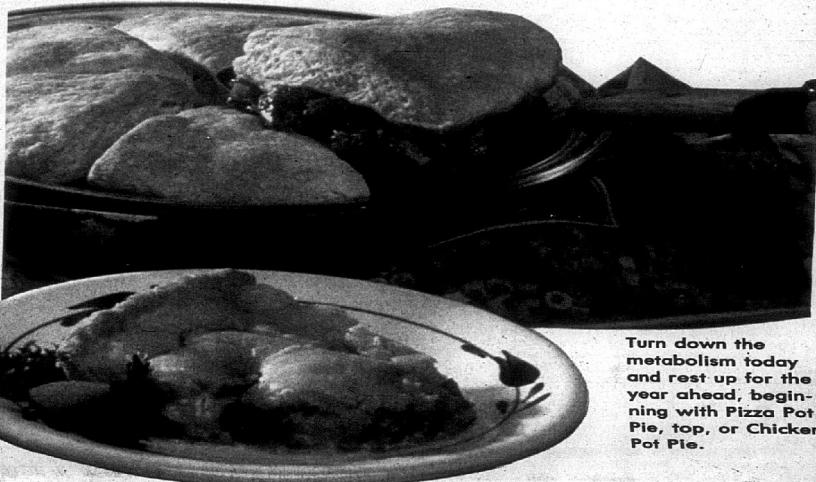

Big Fat Tip

Vegetables pureed to thicken soup serve double duty. They form an excellent thickener for a low-fat soup that does not require cream or sauce for richness. They also help add up to the five servings of fruits and vegetables suggested every day for optimum health. Using this kind of soup as the center of a meal or to start a meal provides a nutritious, filling way to de-emphasize fatty-laden foods.

Future Shop

Here are top trends expected by Susan Doser, former food editor of Southern Living magazine, as suggested to the local Business Section of the American Association of Family and Consumer Science recently. More vegetables exotic to organic, pre-cut genetically engineered for longer shelf life — will be stocked. Like kiwifruit has grown more "no-name" fruits will become everyday staples. Grains — like emu, ostrich and venison — will become mainstream because of a low-fat profile and smart cooks cooking it with familiar seasonings. New names to watch in grocery stores: lemon glass, quinoa, couscous, yucca and boniato. Sure to be a hit: oils with flavors, from mustard to chilies. Supermarkets will offer specialized food bars, like those just for rice or pasta.

LIE A LITTLE

Turn down the metabolism today and rest up for the year ahead, beginning with Pizza Pot Pie, top, or Chicken Pot Pie.

By Janice Denham
Staff writer

Put down your weary head and let it nod a little. Let things wait today. Rely on leftovers.

• Sandwiches: Slice whatever is cooked — beef, turkey, ham, sausage, chicken — and lay on something that resembles bread. If there are leftover rolls, warm in a microwave a few seconds so they become soft and can be used immediately for a luscious sandwich. If there is not a slice left, wrap up the insides in a flour tortilla.

• Serve open-face with cheese to melt in a microwave, or top with leftover gravy, cranberry sauce or thinly sliced pickles or onion.

• Turkey Salad: In an ungreased 2-quart casserole, toss together 2 cups cooked turkey, 2 cups croutons, 2 cups sliced celery, 1 cup mayonnaise, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 1 tablespoon chopped onion, 1/4 cup chopped whatever-nuts and 1/2 cup shredded cheese. Bake in 350° oven about 30 minutes until hot.

• Fruit Salad: Mix together all fruits. Drizzle with fruit juice or honey and serve cold. For a warm mixture, combine 2 tablespoons melted butter or margarine, 1/4 cup brown sugar and pinch of curry powder and toss with about 3 cups chopped fruit; bake in 350° oven until just heated through.

• Potato Soup: Heat small chunks of ham with chopped celery, carrot, onion and whatever small amounts of refrigerated cooked vegetables lurk behind the mashed potatoes. Cook long enough to wilt raw vegetables. Heat those potatoes with milk, plus a sprinkle of ground ginger and red pepper. Combine the two mixtures, adding milk as needed for smoothness and desired consistency.

• Meatball Meal: Heat leftover meatball appetizers with sauce. Serve over hot cooked rice.

• Meatball Meal II: Heat leftover meatball appetizers with sauce. Add package of frozen or leftover cooked vegetables. Serve over hot cooked noodles.

• Pot Pies: Both Chicken and Pizza Pot Pies can use whatever leftovers are plentiful. Switch vegetables and meat or seafood as available. For more

Cloverleaf Cookies

With holiday cookies and vacation behind and school routine about to resume, school lunches and after-school snacks will rise to the top of the planning pile again. Kids themselves will find it easy to make Cloverleaf Cookies for family lunches.

Choose three varieties of refrigerated ready-to-bake cookies. Slice each one as directed, then divide each slice in half. Roll each piece in a ball and set one of each of the varieties close together on a baking sheet to form each cookie. Bake as package directs. If dough runs too close together, it may be necessary to add a minute of baking time.

Wise Ways

Blends from little jars spice up life in 1997

If the new year finds you resolving to economize and put holiday leftovers to delicious use, divert those partially-filled bottles of herbs and spices into wondrous new and useful blends.

Herbs and spices move food from dull to flavorful. Try to imagine chili without chili powder or spaghetti sauce without oregano. Herbs and spices make food taste so good that any cook can trim fat, salt or sugar and not miss it.

Herbs and spices are expensive. Put them to the best use:

- Try a small amount in a variety of dishes to determine which flavors the family likes.

- Exchange spices and herbs with several friends. Everyone can have a wider variety and smaller quantities are more likely to be used before they lose their punch.

- Don't feel limited to using blends like apple pie spice or poultry seasoning. Apple pie spice can take the place of cinnamon, cloves and ginger in any type of food. Try poultry seasoning in pork dishes.

- Don't be afraid to leave out salt. Lemon-pepper seasoning usually has more salt in it than either lemon or pepper.

- Dried herbs and spices are best used within the year of purchase, but can be kept longer in a freezer.

- High temperatures and humidity cause a loss in flavor, so keep the spice rack away from appliances and the sink. Colors stay bright, too, if herbs are stored in a dark place, instead of exposed to light.

The dried ground herbs is more concentrated than fresh, and powdered or ground forms are stronger than crumbled leaves. A useful formula is that 1/4 teaspoon powdered herbs = 1/2 to 1 teaspoon crushed.

Remember, a little goes a long way, so use it sparingly. More always can be added, but it cannot be taken away.

- Use a blender to grind herbs and spices. A coffee grinder works well for grinding small amounts.

These all-purpose herb mixtures can be used instead of salt for seasoning food during preparation or at the table. One teaspoon of any of these blends provides less than 10 calories and only a trace of sodium. All herbs needed ingredients are in their dried form.

Make an herb* shaker from an empty spice bottle with a shaker top, or simply use an empty salt shaker.

• Rub herbs flowing freely, put a few grains of rice in the shaker.

ALL-PURPOSE SPICE BLEND

5 tsp. onion powder
2 1/2 tsp. garlic powder
2 1/2 tsp. paprika
2 1/2 tsp. dry mustard
1 1/2 tsp. thyme, crushed
1 1/2 tsp. pepper
1/4 tsp. celery seed

Combine onion powder, garlic powder, paprika, dry mustard, thyme, crushed and celery seed. Mix thoroughly.

Makes 1/2 cup.

HERBED SEASONING BLEND

2 tbsp. dill or basil, crushed
2 tbsp. onion powder
1 tsp. oregano, crushed
1 tsp. celery seed
1/2 tsp. dried grated lemon rind
Pinch pepper

Combine dill, onion powder, oregano, celery seed, lemon rind and pepper. Mix thoroughly.

Makes 1/2 cup.

SALTLESS SURPRISE

2 tsp. garlic powder
1 tsp. basil
1 tsp. oregano
1 tsp. powdered lemon rind

Mix together garlic powder, basil, oregano and lemon rind well in blender. Store in glass container. Makes about 4 teaspoons.

PIZZA POT PIE

1 1/2 cups finely chopped cooked turkey or 1 lb. turkey sausage
1/2 cup coarsely chopped onion
1 1/2 cups sliced fresh mushrooms
1 cup coarsely chopped green bell pepper

1 can (14.5 oz.) chunky pizza sauce
2 cups all-purpose baking mix (Bisquick suggested)
1/4 cup milk
1 egg
2 tbsp. grated parmesan cheese

Preheat oven to 400°. Cook meat with onion in 10-inch skillet until heated through; if using sausage, cook until it is no longer pink. Drain. Stir in mushrooms, bell pepper and pizza sauce. Spoon into ungreased 3-quart casserole.

Stir together baking mix, milk, egg and parmesan cheese until dough forms. Turn onto surface coated with baking mix. Knead 10 times. Pat dough into 9-inch circle. Cut in 8 wedges. Place wedges on turkey mixture.

Bake in preheated oven about 30 minutes until crust is golden brown.

Makes 6 servings.

CHICKEN POT PIE

Crust
1/4 cup (1/4 stick) margarine or butter
1/4 cup original baking mix
1/2 cup parsley flakes
1 cup chicken broth
1 cup frozen vegetable mixture or cooked

with baking mix. Knead 10 times. Pat dough into 9-inch circle. Cut in 8 wedges. Place wedges on turkey mixture.

Bake in preheated oven about 30 minutes until crust is golden brown.

Makes 6 servings.

Pasta, potatoes plead innocent in trial for fat

New Year's resolutions need to be realistic goals. Aiming too high or seeking to make severe changes only results in wanting to forget about good cookbooks the old ways by Jan. 10.

Those favorite food resolutions are more effective when they are simple changes in choices and amounts of foods eaten and served.

As the holiday season with its chocolates, cookies and candies draws to a close, it is time to get away from excessive calories and back to basics. Grains, fruits, vegetables and calcium-rich, low-fat foods provide the ideal foundation for good health. Concentrate on planning meals and snacks around these healthy foods and the new year will fly off to a glorious start.

Pasta and the potato have undeserved reputations for being fattening when the real culprit comes from what is served on them. Heavy cream and cheese sauces add calories through their fat content.

A baked potato, nutritionally dressed, is a wonderful vegetable. Leave off the sour cream or serve it with a moderate amount of reduced-fat or no-fat margarine or sour cream and the result is a cut in calories, not flavor.

Colorful, crisp vegetables combined with pasta please the eye and the palate.

Bring vegetables in microwave oven is quick and easy, plus it saves valuable vitamins and minerals lost through long conventional cooking in water, which drains away valuable nutrients. It also preserves the vibrant color of vegetables.

These recipes are quick and colorful combinations of textures and flavors that result in one-dish meals in minutes.

Home economist Judy Eddy specializes in microwave cooking.

RED AND GREEN PASTA

4 large baking potatoes
2 cups fresh broccoli florets
2 tbsp. water
1/2 tsp. margarine
1/4 tsp. dried dill weed
1/4 tsp. seasoned salt
1/8 tsp. lemon-pepper seasoning
1/4 cup reduced-fat sour cream

Scrub potatoes, pierce with fork and arrange in circle on paper towels in microwave oven. Microwave on high power 10 to 12 minutes, turning potatoes over halfway through cooking time. Baked potatoes finish cooking after removal from microwave oven while broccoli topping is being prepared.

Rinse broccoli well. Place in 2-quart microwave-safe casserole with water. Microwave on high power 4 to 5 minutes.

In microwave-safe cup or bowl, microwave margarine, dill, salt and lemon-pepper on high power 30 seconds or until margarine is melted.

Stir in sour cream. Toss with broccoli. Serve over hot baked potatoes. Makes 4 servings.

8 oz. uncoked vermicelli
2 tbsp. oil
1 clove garlic, minced, or
1/4 tsp. garlic powder
1/2 tsp. ground ginger
1/4 tsp. crushed red pepper
3 cups fresh broccoli
1/2 cup water
1 cup sliced mushrooms
5 or 6 green onions, cut in 1-inch pieces
1 red bell pepper, cut in thin strips
1/4 cup reduced-sodium soy sauce

Prepare pasta conventionally.

In 2-quart microwave-safe casserole, combine oil, garlic, ginger, red pepper, broccoli and water. Microwave, covered, on high power 3 minutes.

Add mushrooms, onion and bell pepper. Microwave, covered, on high power 5 to 7 minutes, stir-

1/4 cup sliced dried tomato
1/2 cup cubed celery
4 medium potatoes, cubed
1/8 tsp. red pepper
1/4 cup red wine, if desired
Preheat oven to 325°. Combine ground beef, bread crumbs, chopped onion, egg, 1 teaspoon salt and pinch of pepper. Form into walnut-sized balls. In Dutch oven or stockpot, brown meatballs in oil. Pour off any fat that accumulates.

Cook about 1 hour in preheated oven.

"One of my sons loves canned peaches and he thought they were very tasty," she said.

"The flavoring is in the syrup, the peaches are colorful and solid. It's a real quality item like you'd expect from Del Monte."

Another tester called it a "true" rather than artificial flavor. She was ready to look for a coupon at home to try a can on her own.

The cost of a 15-ounce can is $1.09.

Testers found the spiced peaches less appealing, so were less interested in trying them.

The person who opened them thought the spices needed refining.

"When I opened the can, I had a low burst of aroma that was more cloves than cinnamon. Cloves is not my favorite spice, so I was not particularly about trying them, particularly when cinnamon is mentioned on the label."

The ingredients list only "natural flavors," she said.

Another thought the "canned" flavor of the peaches was too prominent in the spicy liquid.

Peachy flavorings become test pair

Del Monte has a peach of a product, it feels, with canned sliced peaches, flavoring, light syrup. Lookily, it is available in supermarkets with cinnamon and spice flavor, as well as raspberry flavoring.

Raspberry flavoring was the first choice.

"The raspberry-flavored peaches had a distinctive, different taste than was really good. The raspberry flavoring was just enough to give a new twist and make me want to buy it in the future," a taster said.

Celebrate sunny citrus with walk on bright side

Citrus fruit traditionally provides a ray of sunshine in bleak and dreary winter menus. Its brilliant colors and fresh, crisp flavors turn a ho-hum dish into a sensory sensation.

Citrus comes packed with nutrients like its well-known supply of vitamin C, beta-carotene (in oranges and red or pink grapefruit), and a host of phytochemicals that constantly attract attention for their cancer-fighting potential.

Lemons may not be the first fruit grabbed when preparing meals, but that can change. Lemons provide a burst of flavor virtually free of fat, calories and sodium. Lemon juice can dress greens, asparagus, green beans or broccoli without adding fat.

It draws out other flavors, too. The flavor of parsley, garlic and mushrooms sautéed in bit of olive oil is intensified. Mince and mix together lemon rind, parsley and garlic to create a spicy seasoning perfect for sprinkling over soups, stews, poached chicken or fish.

The distinct taste of lime is also sensational, especially with Mexican food. Sprinkle over melon slices for dessert or in a fresh fruit salsa made of cubed mango, minced jalapeño pepper and chopped fresh cilantro. Give pork a zesty Latin flavor by marinating it in lime juice with olive oil, black pepper, fresh cilantro, bay leaf and garlic.

Citrus rind (or zest) contains oils that add extra flavor to food. To get zest, grate the fruit peel on the smallest holes of a metal grater or use a small-holed zester, available in most kitchenware departments. Be sure to remove only the colored part of the peel and avoid the bitter white pith.

Bright citrus flavors in Gulf Coast Scallops foil winter's paleness

Grapefruit juice is great for sparkling flavor in beverages, such as chilled iced tea, either hot or iced tea. Sprinkle the juice over a tossed salad to add brisk flavor without adding a barbecue sauce tropical mix. $\frac{1}{2}$ cup sauce with 3 tablespoons grapefruit juice — and use it with chicken.

From sauces to quick breads, oranges and orange juice refresh ordinary recipes. For orange-glazed carrots, $\frac{1}{2}$ cup melted margarine, 3 tablespoons orange juice, $\frac{1}{2}$ tablespoons sugar, 6 whole cloves and $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon salt in a saucepan until tender. Pour liquid over 10 medium carrots, peeled and steamed until tender crisp. Gulf Coast Scallops is a flavor marriage of citrus and seafood. These succulent scallops with a light orange sauce inject a blast of sunshine in a winter menu.

GULF COAST SCALLOPS

1 lb. scallops, thawed if frozen
1 pkg. (9 oz.) fresh spinach fettuccine or 1 lb. dried spinach fettuccine

3 cups sliced mushrooms
2 cups thinly sliced carrots
3/4 cup frozen orange juice concentrate, thawed
3/4 cup cold water
2 tbsp. cornstarch
1 tsp. instant chicken bouillon granules
1/4 tsp. garlic powder
Freshly ground pepper
Fresh parsley

Grapefruit sections, if desired

Cook pasta according to package directions. Drain. Keep warm.

In medium saucepan, stir together orange juice, water, cornstarch, bouillon, garlic powder and pepper. Add mushrooms and carrots. Sauté 5 minutes. Add scallops, cut in half if large. Cook and stir until mixture is thickened and bubbly. Cook and stir about 2 minutes longer until scallops turn opaque.

Serve scallop mixture over pasta. Sprinkle with snipped parsley. Garnish with parsley and grapefruit.

Makes 6 servings, 251 calories and 1 g fat each.

Find out how to "quit for life" with Memorial's Freedom from Smoking Self Help Plus Program.

Program:

The American Lung Association's "Freedom from Smoking Self Help Plus" program is taught by a respiratory therapist from Memorial. The program consists of three sessions: Session One helps the participant build motivation to quit and to learn why they smoke; Session Two is quit day when the smoker learns how to cope with urges and develops a reward system for staying quit; and Session Three focuses on staying quit. Skills to help the ex-smoker cope with social situations, develop an exercise program and eat healthy are presented.

Hearty Bites

By TERRI EDELSTEIN

Pretty parsley posed as pesky, not pertinent

Poor parsley. All dressed up and nowhere to go. While most herbs celebrated the recent holiday season adding flavor and zip to fancy dishes, parsley merely sat perched atop other tempting morsels. Plates of hors d'oeuvres were devoured, but the pesky parsley sprig was tossed aside.

The band played on, but parsley never was asked to dance.

Let's give parsley a chance. After all, it is an abundantly useful herb in enhancing flavor and tamed the tang of onions, spiffs up soup and adds oomph to eggs. New potatoes would be naked without it.

In ancient Greece, wreaths of parsley crowned winning athletes. Romans believed wearing parsley sprigs prevented drunkenness. When they got drunk anyway, they chewed parsley to hide the alcohol on their breath.

A member of the carrot family, parsley has colorful palette of flavorful cousins: celery, cress, coriander and dill. It has been used medicinally for centuries as an insect repellent, a poultice for cuts and bruises and as a breath freshener.

Parsley's aphrodisiac qualities are questionable but no harm in experimenting ever has been recorded.

Curly parsley is the most common variety. Italian parsley, stronger in flavor, is known as flat leaf parsley. Mincé leaves may appear in mildly-flavored dishes without salt or fat. Potatoes, rice, pasta, eggs, poultry and fish especially benefit from parsley's clean freshness.

Start the culinary new year by resuming parsley from a blanketed life of garnishing. It may end up the life of the party.

Registered dietitian Terri Edelstein is a member of the nutrition committee of American Heart Association, St. Louis Chapter.

PARSLEY SCALLOPED POTATOES

2 cloves garlic, minced
1 tbsp. flour

Stir in ½ cup orange juice, 2 teaspoons grated orange rind, 2 tablespoons vinegar and ¼ teaspoon pepper sauce.

Serve warm with broiled fish, chicken or veal.

Makes about 1 ½ cups, 6 servings; 95 calories, 7 mg sodium and trace of fat each.

ZIPPY ORANGE SAUCE
In saucepan, blend 2 tablespoons cornstarch and ¼ cup brown sugar. Add ½ cup water. Mix until smooth. Cook, stirring constantly, until mixture boils. Remove from heat.

Recipe

VEGETABLE DELIGHT

½ tsp. low-fat margarine
½ cup chopped onion
½ cup chopped green pepper

1 can (12 oz.) evaporated skim milk
1 tbsp. spicy brown mustard
1/4 cup minced fresh parsley
4 cups peeled, thinly sliced baking potato (1 ½ lb.)
½ cup (1½ oz.) grated parmesan cheese

Preheat oven to 350°. Coat 11-by-7-inch casserole with nonstick cooking spray.

In large saucepan coated with nonstick cooking spray, saute garlic until tender.

In small bowl, whisk flour with ¼ cup milk until smooth. Add to garlic. Cook and stir until thickened. Gradually add remaining milk, mustard and parsley. Bring to boil, stirring constantly. Add potato.

Spoon half the mixture into prepared casserole. Sprinkle with half the cheese. Repeat layers. Let covered in preheated oven 30 minutes. Uncover. Bake 15 minutes longer. Let stand 10 minutes before serving.

Makes 6 servings; 191 calories, 7 g protein.

How much exercise does it take to be fit? Researchers at Duke University found that exercising at least 30 to 40 minutes three times a week. Some fit is lower than others, before when cattle are cross-bred and especially fed to produce leaner meat. Look for "select" or "Select" grades or brand name meats. You're less likely to get shin splints if you wear running shoes with good support and shock-absorbent soles, and if you avoid running on hard surfaces. Be sure to stretch out first. Caffeine may be okay in moderation. Seems that many coffee drinkers in general are also smokers, many on high-fat diets... and that where the drinking continues, moderate coffee consumption above 200 mg a day, is now considered all right. Working out is less work, less time. Secondary activities... anything from talking to a friend, listening to music, or doing math problems in your head... can help. Researchers found that secondary activity made the workout seem lighter. Working out is FUN at

HOT HOPPIN' JOHN SALAD

1 cup coarsely chopped ham
1 cup chopped onion
2 cloves garlic, minced
1/2 tbsp. oil
3 cups hot cooked rice
(cooked in chicken broth)
1 can (16 oz.) black-eyed peas, rinsed, drained
1/2 tsp. pepper sauce
1/2 tsp. packed black pepper
1/2 tsp. salt
2 slices bacon, chopped
4 cups very finely shredded green cabbage

Cook ham, 1/4 cup onion and garlic in oil until lightly browned. Stir in rice, peas, pepper sauce, pepper and salt. Cook until thoroughly heated.

In large skillet, cook bacon until crisp. Remove bacon from pan and drain all but 1 tablespoon drippings.

Add cabbage and remaining 1/4 cup onion. Stir-fry until tender-crisp. Spoon onto large platter.

This is great news for the home cook because exotic-sounding Latin American cooking is actually very accessible. Much of its appeal comes from juxtaposing flavors and textures, such as chicken laced with the flavors of cinnamon and thyme and served with a pineapple-mango salsa.

With the right balance, seemingly unrelated flavors come together in pleasing, satisfying harmony.

North Americans tango to Latin American flavor

From New York to Los Angeles, the bright, exciting flavors of Latin American foods are making a splash. New books on Latin cooking get lots of attention, and once-exotic ingredients, from chipotle to jalapeño and chayote, are becoming regular items, not just in restaurants, but in local supermarkets, too.

This is great news for the home cook because exotic-sounding Latin American cooking is actually very accessible. Much of its appeal comes from juxtaposing flavors and textures, such as chicken laced with the flavors of cinnamon and thyme and served with a pineapple-mango salsa.

With the right balance, seemingly unrelated flavors come together in pleasing, satisfying harmony.

North America's love affair with the enticing flavors and vibrant colors of the cuisines of Puerto Rico, Cuba, Central and South America was preceded by a growing familiarity with Mexican and Southwest American cooking over the past generation. Chicken and corn-based foods, such as polenta and tamales, are commonplace. Cilantro sits agreeably alongside parsley in produce sections.

A brilliant, time-honored combination of fruits with meat, such as sweet-savory blend deliciously cools the heat of chili peppers.

1/2 ripe mango, coarsely chopped
3 tbsp. finely chopped fresh cilantro
1/2 tsp. finely chopped lime peel
1/2 tsp. finely chopped, seeded serrano chili
1/4 cup chopped onion
1/4 tsp. dried thyme, crushed
1 tsp. ground allspice
1/2 tsp. cinnamon
1/2 tsp. black pepper
1/2 tsp. cayenne pepper
4 whole chicken legs or 6 chicken thighs

To use whole pineapple, twist off crown from pineapple, cut pineapple in half lengthwise and refrigerate half for later use. Cut remaining crown in half. Core and skin fruit. Coarsely chop one section fruit. Finely chop remaining quarter.

Combine coarsely chopped pineapple, onion, thyme, allspice, cinnamon, black and cayenne pepper in bowl. Rub mixture over chicken.

Broil (or grill or bake) chicken 40 to 50 minutes until chicken is no longer pink in center, turning half-way through cooking.
